COURT HOUSE FOR EAST BLAIRMORE

We have it on pretty good authority that the Department of Public Works has at last satisfied themselves as to the location for the new courthouse, which will be built on the original site of Victoria Street, just east of the residence of Mr. L. H. Finnam.

tion by the department. Elsewhere in this issue will be found a notice calling for tenders for erection of government buildings at Drumheller and Blairmore.

Mr. King, of the Blairmore Exchange, has purchased the Oliver residence on Stuart Street east.

ACCIDENT AT BLAIRMORE MINE

A rather serious accident happened at the Greenhill mine of the West Canadian Collieries, No. 3 level, on Friday afternoon, in which John Patterson, fire boss, and three miners—D. Peresni, Edward Cencin and Antonio Costigana—were the victims. An explosion caused by a pick hitting a live cap was the cause. The three Italians suffered severe lacerations to the faces, while Costigana is likely to lose the sight of both eyes. A specialist was called in from Calgary and after viewing the men at the Blairmore hospital decided they should all be moved to Calgary for treatment. Patterson, Peresni and Cencina left by Sunday night train, accompanied by William Patterson and a brother of Peresni's. William Patterson returned to town on Tuesday and reports that John's condition is not serious. Costigana's condition will not yet permit his removal.

SUMMIT HOTEL DESTROYED BY FIRE

Fire, believed to have originated in the basement of the main building, completely destroyed the Summit hotel at Crows' Nest on Friday forenoon last. The loss is roughly estimated at $30,000. The building is said to have been owned by J. McCool and was leased by Donald Lewis, who had sublet the dining room and kitchen to a Chinaman. The Summit hotel formed an historic spot and years ago became famous through Andy Goode and his menageries. Andy Goode has since passed away, as has also all signs of the menagerie.

EMILIO PICCARIELLO AND MRS. LASSANDRO GUILTY

Jury Returns Verdict of "Guilty" and Both are Sentenced to Hang.

Emilio Piccariello and Mrs. Florence Lassandro were found guilty on Saturday evening of the murder of Constable S. O. Lawson at Coleman on September 21st, and were sentenced by Mr. Justice Walsh to be hanged at Fort Saskatchewan on February 21st, exactly five months following the act which resulted in the death of the constable.

The jury retired at ten minutes to 4 in the afternoon of Saturday and promptly at the stroke of eight, counsel for the Crown and defence filed into the courtroom, followed a moment later by His Lordship. His Lordship made a statement prior to the bringing in of the jury in which he declared firmly and pointedly that there must be no demonstration of either approval or disapproval after a verdict had been rendered. "Any person guilty of a contempt of this court, should they come before me, will be severely punished," he said.

The sheriff brought in the jury—six citizens of the realm in whose hands the fate of the prisoners in the box rested. They answered to their names, and Clerk of the Court Lawrence J. Clarke, addressed them saying:

"Gentlemen of the jury, have you agreed upon a verdict. If so, make it known through your foreman."

W. H. Bagley, foreman, slowly arose and said: "We have."

"What is your verdict?" There was a silence of but a moment, but it seemed an hour. The ticking of the clock could be heard.

"We find both of the accused, Emilio Piccariello and Florence Lassandro, guilty of murder," declared the foreman.

Justice Walsh concurred. There was another stifling silence, and then His Lordship said: "Gentlemen, I concur with your verdict of conviction. All through my charge to you, I endeavored to conceal my own personal views and feelings, because I thought that you gentlemen were quite capable to decide the guilt or innocence of the accused from the evidence adduced. I felt at the close that the Crown had most completely established its charge, and that a serious miscarriage of justice would have occurred, had a verdict other than the one rendered, been given."

Piccariello was asked to stand up. His face was stolid and unmoved, and his keen dark eyes were fixed on the face of His Lordship. Asked if he had anything to say regarding the verdict of the jury, he answered through his lawyer, J. McKinley Cameron, K.C., that he had nothing to say.

No Alternative

His Lordship explained that under the British law there was only one sentence that could be meted out to a murderer, which was death. He said the evidence would go to Ottawa and be reviewed, and there it will be finally decided whether or not the execution of the sentence would be carried into effect. He had no right to hold out hope, and in the meantime, he advised the prisoners to prepare to meet the sentence. There was a movement in front, and the clerk crossed to the wall, took down a calendar and passed it up to His Lordship. Piccariello watched this, but he maintained his poise, except for a new pallor on his cleanly shaven face. He watched Mr. Justice Walsh, unmoved as the measure of his span of life was counted.

The Sentence

His Lordship spoke, "You will be taken immediately to the provincial jail at Fort Saskatchewan, where you will remain until the twenty-first day of February, 1923, when you will be taken from your place of confinement, and hanged until dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

Mrs. Lassandro was immediately

Those favored with the opportunity of attending the grand musical concert given in the Greenhill Grill on Thursday evening last realized the greatest musical treat in their lives. The principal artist was Rev. Father Bolts, present teacher in piano at St. Mary's College, Calgary, but for sentenced. His Lordship said that he had no alternative but to sentence her to the same fate. He added, however, that inasmuch as she was a woman, some clemency might be extended. The woman was then sentenced to be hanged at Fort Saskatchewan, on the same date. She was supported by the matron as she bent forward, her lips moving as if she wanted to speak. She uttered a little moan as she resumed her seat beside her condemned companion.

Piccariello had been a resident of Blairmore for about eight years, and owned considerable property here, including the Alberta hotel, at the rear of which his wife and seven children resided.

mer organist at St. Augustine's Seminary, Toronto. Father Bolts' mastery of the piano was plain to be seen and his renditions were received with delight and applause. Chief among the selections rendered by Father Bolts were: "Soaring—Allegro con fuoco," by Schumann; "Farewell to the Piano," by Beethoven; "Military Polonaise" and "The Earl King," by Schubert-Liszt; "Funeral March" and "Valse Fantastique," by Chopin; "Prelude C-Minor," by Rachmaninoff; "To a Wild Rose," by McDowell; "Drink to Me Only With Thine Eyes," selected and arranged by Father Bolts; "King Cotton March," by Sousa; "Polish Rhapsody," by Brahms; and "Venetian Love Song," by Scharwenka.

Messrs. Raoul Green and J. Cranney assisted with song selections, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. R. Green and Mr. H. C. James.

The programme opened with very pleasing piano and vocal selections by little Misses Evelyn and Dorothy Olivier, daughters of Dr. and Mrs. Olivier.

A dance took place, following the concert.

The Farmer And Immigration

The grain growers of Western Canada are faced with well defined and more or less clearly understood problems in connection with the growing and marketing of their staple product. Some of these problems are economic; some geographical. Among the more outstanding the following may be enumerated:

1. The long haul to the seaboard—the Canadian Prairie country being probably the most inland of the great grain exporting districts of the world.

2. Excessively high transportation costs to place Western grain on the world's markets because of the great distances from the seaboard, and equally high transportation costs on machinery and equipment brought from Eastern manufacturing centres and which is essential in grain production.

3. The difficulty of obtaining adequate farm labor during the rush seasons and the high wages demanded in order to secure such labor.

4. The fact that, unlike practically every other industry, these high costs of production and marketing cannot be passed to the ultimate consumer, but must be paid by the producer because the selling price of his grain is not and cannot be fixed by him based on cost of production, but is fixed by world markets over which he has no control.

That is to say, with the price of wheat fixed by the law of supply and demand in a world market, say Liverpool, wheat grown thousands of miles inland in Canada must compete with wheat grown in the Argentine, India and Egypt only a few miles from the seaboard; as compared with the high priced labor of the Canadian West, there is the lower priced labor of the Argentine and the cheap native labor of India and Egypt. Consequently, from the price obtainable in Liverpool the Western Canadian farmer has to deduct dollars where his world competitors deduct only a few cents, and he has to bear, in addition to the ocean carriage charges common to all, the heavy transportation charges to reach the seaboard.

Western Canada must overcome its geographical handicap, the only compensating feature being the high quality and hard variety of wheat which the Prairies produce, plus, in favorable years, a large yield per acre. But it is not possible for Canada to at least somewhat reduce the handicap now imposed by reason of excessive labor costs. If so, will not a well devised and properly directed immigration policy assist to that end without doing injustice to any class?

The present method of meeting the farm labor demand of the West is economically unsound. Every Spring thousands of men are brought at heavy expense from other provinces to be employed for a comparatively few weeks. Again, for the harvest time of thousands of farm laborers are imported. It is inevitable that these men must be paid big wages in order to recoup them for the expense to which they are put in coming to the West and returning home, especially as the period of their actual employment is short. Under the circumstances the high wages demanded by and paid to these men are not, on the whole, unreasonable. Nevertheless, they are greater than the price obtained for wheat, can stand and yet leave a fair margin of profit to the farmer.

Furthermore, this annual influx of temporary farm workers leaves thousands of men in the West who come from the harvest fields into the cities for the winter and swell the ranks of the unemployed, thus operating to create for the city and town artisan the very conditions which he fears will result from immigration, and which consequently leads the city artisan and laborer to oppose any and all policies designed to increase Canada's population through immigration.

Would it not be in the best interests of the city and town worker, as well as to the farmer's advantage, to develop an energetic immigration policy which would add enormously to the number of rural workers? Western farmers now pay out in wages to extra farm hands in the Spring, and for harvest and threshing operations in the Fall, a sum sufficiently large to enable them to pay a reasonable wage all the year round to one or more capable farm hands, if such men were only available. Of course, living accommodation would have to be provided for such permanent help, but even if the cost were somewhat greater, the resultant service would be much more efficient and, therefore, profitable.

Such labor, remaining on the farms the year round, would relieve the urban centres and their resident artisans and laborers from the problems and competition which annually occur with the present yearly influx of harvesters. The more intensive settlement of farm lands which would result would bring many benefits to farm and city alike.

Honey-Production Increases

B.C. Honey Crop Over Double that of Last Year

British Columbia's honey crop breaks all records this year, according to the official estimate given out by W. J. Shepherd, Provincial Apiarist. The crop totals 111,356 pounds against 59,074 last year. At 25 cents wholesale, the crop is valued at $177,829, against $59,631 last year. The average yield for the 11,591 hives in the 2,143 apiaries in the province is 51 pounds. The total honey crop of 61 pounds. The total honey crop of 71 apiaries and 1,265 hives. Bees worth $5,000 have also been produced. Eleven years ago the provincial production was 20 tons against 255 this year.

Building New Roads

Saskatchewan's New Roads Cost $1,250,000

Construction of highways involved a total expenditure of $32,372 during the fiscal year ending April 30, 1922, according to a statement issued by the Highway Department of Saskatchewan.

The following districts benefited: Canora, Cumberland, Cypress, Elrose, Happyland, Isle la Crosse, Jackfish Lake, Maple Creek, Melior, Notkewick, Prince Albert, Shellbrook, Tis-61 pounds. The total honey crop of 71 apiaries and 1,265 hives. Bees worth $5,000 have also been produced. Eleven years ago the provincial production was 20 tons against 255 this year.

Immortal Men Of Mons

German Tribute Paid to Original British Expeditionary Force

Speaking at the Royal United Services Institution, Earl Hals mentioned a tribute paid by Von Kluck to the original British Expeditionary Force—"The Army of Mons."

A British officer, visiting Berlin since the war, called on Von Kluck. As is the custom with officers of the Allied Armies of Occupation, the British officer held out his hand.

Von Kluck said: "Not before I have fulfilled a vow I made before the end of the war. It was that before I would shake hands with any British officer again I would say this to him—I am an old man. I started life in '66 against the Austrians, I fought in the '70 war, and have studied and talked about war all my life, holding high command before the war, but nothing I have ever read or seen or heard is compared to the achievements of the First Expeditionary Force sent out to help the French."

THE HALF-SPEED MAN

What It Means When You Feel Run-Down and Tired

You know what it means to feel "all out of sorts." Most people have felt this way at some time. Nervous out of order, irritable, languid, depressed.

An aching head, appetite bad and digestion weak. With some people this condition comes and goes; with others it is chronic—they can't shake it off. It interferes with business, recreation and robs life of all its joys. These men and women are only able to work at half-speed.

The trouble is caused by poor, watery blood. You can improve your condition today by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People.

These pills enrich and stimulate the blood, strengthen the nerves and give you fresh vigor. Here is proof. "Mr. William F. Bell, Bridgeport, Ont., says: 'I have been recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for many years, and because of the benefit I got from their use, I was in a terribly run-down condition. I was scarcely able to do anything all winter. To make things worse I took the mumps and caught colds and a result was that I was bed for six weeks, part of the time in a terrible fever. Of course I was doctoring, but instead of getting better, I was growing weaker. At this time my father-in-law urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, but I had no faith in all medicine and refused. However, he had such faith in them that he bought me six boxes, and of course I could not refuse to take them. Now I am glad I did not. I had not taken them long before I began to feel better. I have faith in the pills myself. There was no doubt I was improving. Day by day my strength came back and I gained in weight from 115 to 116 pounds. Therefore, I feel that I can not speak too highly of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I hope my experience will convince some other sufferer of the value of this medicine.'

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail post, paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Building Up Small Towns

Citizens Should Support the Place They Call Home

It is high time that all of us paid more attention to the building up of the little town and less to making the overgrown city larger. The little town is home—or should be. It needs our support, and we are the people who must give it life and power if it is to have either. The big city cannot take care of itself. It will if it can only get dollars away and turn our boys and girls into its whirlpool, but that is the only use it has for us. The little town needs us and we need it. Hall's Corners may not make as large a dent on the map as New York, but it it really means more to us, and we ought to help make it something to be proud of. Why not get over the idea that the bright future of America lies in the great cities? It does not. The future which lies in the cities is shapeworn, smoked, dirty and unclean. The true future lies in the country and in the little towns. Back them up and make them grow. Rural New Yorker.

Size Of Universe

Scientists Trying to Estimate Extent in Miles

Discussing the statement of Dr. H. Shapley, Director of Harvard University, that the limit of the universe is 200,000 light years away, Dominion observatory officials point out that as light travels 186,000 miles a second, a light year is 7,000,000,000,000 miles. The extent of the universe then, according to the Harvard astronomer's estimate, is 1,400,000,000,000,000 miles. By the limit of the universe, the distance it extends, not the time it may be expected to endure, is meant.

Nevada Mining Tooth Powder

Old Prospector Finds Peculiar Mineral In Desert Mountain

Nevada for years has been mining silver, copper and gold; but now it has turned to mining tooth powder.

Twelve years ago, Mack Foster, an old "dipert" and big game hunter, discovered Mt. Suspendent, and found its peculiar mineral would take the tobacco stains off his teeth.

Eventually Foster told a man named Fenwick about the mountain. Fenwick's secretary, a western girl named Josephine Robinson, tried some of the material and found it most effective. Fenwick staked the claim and now he and his associates have hard work to keep ahead of orders.

The material not only cleans teeth, but polishes silver, manicures nails, shines up optical goods, whitens shoes and makes a fine shampoo. Physicians are using it; too, for a surgical powder.

The mountains is out in the sage brush desert, about 30 miles from Tonopah.

Settlers From States

In keeping with the programme to "bring Canadians back" through special settlement offers of colonization lots, the province of Quebec disposed of 220,000 acres to newcomers during the year ending June, 1922. In the 12 months 626 families of French-Canadian origin, consisting of 2,471 persons, returned to the home of their fathers from the New England States. Several thousand additional acres are already cleared for the same purpose and a system of inspection organized.

Report That Germany And Russia Entering Into A Secret Pact

London.—That the Germans are actively planning a war against France, for which purpose they have concluded a secret military agreement with Russia, is the main point of "a memorandum by a person in close touch with the best informed German circles in Berlin and at Munich," according to the Daily Mail, which displays it under big headlines.

The paper claims to have made exhaustive enquiries into the memorandum's accuracy in Germany, London and Paris, with the result, the Mail says, that it has been very largely supported thereby. "Except for precise details," the Mail's story does not differ materially from similar statements printed from time to time in anti-German papers.

The memorandum particularizes with respect to alleged arrangements to enable Germany to utilize Russia's resources, including complete international reorganization, which will make Russia capable of supporting both herself and Germany, so that Germany may ignore any sea blockade.

It says that German armament firms will establish factories in Russia, whose armies will be equipped thereby, and submarines and mine-layers will be built in Russian dockyards, under German guidance and manned by Russian crews under German officers.

Poland is to be crushed and annexed by Russia, so as to give Russia and Germany a common frontier.

Release Slaves In German East Africa

System Is Done Away With Under British Mandate

Geneva.—The British Government has communicated to the secretariat of the League of Nations an ordinance abolishing slavery in that territory of German East Africa now known as the territory of Tanganyika, which is under mandate to Great Britain.

Offences against the ordinance are punishable by fines up to £50 and imprisonment up to two years.

English Farmers Want Assistance

London.—Chambers of agriculture are petitioning the Government to grant loans to farmers for buying their farms. Many old-style land lords who are now taxed 29 shillings on the pound are compelled to sell their land and the Government is expected to assist the small farmers to buy.

Not Expecting Big Turnout

Calgary.—Although membership dues of the U.F.A. are now coming in better, it is not expected that there will be more than about 700 delegates present at the next annual convention in January. With the friends of the delegates, the attendance might reach 1,000.

Opposes Cattle Pool

Calgary Livestock Man Thinks Scheme Is Impracticable

Calgary.—Establishment of a cattle pool by the United Grain Growers, Limited, to affect Calgary, Edmonton and Winnipeg, is impracticable, and fraught with many difficulties, according to John Reid, Secretary of the Calgary Livestock Exchange.

"I would suggest, in lieu of this scheme, that a local pooling arrangement be made, which would be far more satisfactory," said Mr. Reid. "After all, Calgary is one of the best markets for good live cattle raised in Alberta, and the idea behind the U.G.G. pooling scheme is to secure a better price for cattle."

MOTHER!

Your Child's Bowels Need "California Fig Syrup"

Hurry mother! Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup" and it never fails to open the bowels. A teaspoonful today may prevent a sick child tomorrow. It constipates, bilious, feverish, fretful, has cold, colic, or if stomach is sour, tongue coated, breath bad, remember a good cleansing of the little bowels is often all that is necessary.

Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

Say Armenians Have Conspiracy

Constantinople.—The official Anatolian agency asserts that a conspiracy has been discovered among Armenians in Italy to foment an uprising in Constantinople for the purpose of provoking foreign intervention. It is alleged by the agency that Armenians have planned the assassination of high Kematist officials.

Push Road on to James Bay

Toronto.—The postponement of the electrification project and the decision to push construction work continuously to a port upon James Bay shall be reached, were the principal decisions reached at a conference between the Transjordan and Northern Ontario Railway directors and Premier Drury.

Frederation, N.B.—The rule of the road was changed in the province of New Brunswick on December 1 and on after that date it was "turn to the right" as it is in all the provinces of Canada west of New Brunswick.

Foster Tourist Travel to Canada

Good Roads Association Seeks New $20,000,000 Grant For Provinces

Ottawa.—The Canadian Good Roads Association's request for a Dominion grant of $20,000,000 toward aiding the provinces in the construction of highways, as a supplement to the grant of a similar amount made in 1919, and which is almost expended, is being pressed upon members of the Government here by association officials.

The association is also asking for an extension of the time limit in connection with the grant made in 1919 for those provinces which have so far been unable to take up their full allotment.

In connection with the campaign for the additional grant of $20,000,000, it is stated that a national conference will be called early in the year, to which all interested bodies, including tourists' associations, publicity bureaus, boards of trade, and the provincial governments, will be invited to send delegates. This conference will be held either in Montreal, Ottawa or Toronto. The actual meeting place will be decided upon at the next meeting of the executive of the Good Roads Association.

This conference will also consider ways and means for a world-wide publicity campaign for the purpose of fostering tourist travel to Canada, encourage Canadians to travel in their own country, and to educate the people of the United States to the advantages of visiting Canada.

Fire Destroys Laval Dental College

Loss Is Estimated To Be In Neighborhood of $500,000

Montreal.—Fire which raged for over two hours completely destroyed the Laval Dental and Veterinary College, affiliated with the University of Montreal, causing a loss of approximately $500,000. Eight firemen were slightly injured by flying glass.

The building was a separate one from the main building of the University of Montreal. This is the second fire within the last three weeks at the university and the third in two years. The first fire this year, which occurred about the middle of November, caused damage in the neighborhood of $500,000. In 1920 the entire building was destroyed by fire. There have been strong rumors of incendiarism in connection with the first fire this month.

Alberta Forest Fires

Calgary.—Another forest fire has broken out in Northern Alberta, although the regular season for forest conflagrations was believed to be past some time ago, according to information received in the city by C. H. Morse, Inspector of Forest Services for Alberta.

To Replace British Troops

Belfast.—The British troops will shortly be withdrawn from Pettigo, on the Donegal-Permanagh border, held by them since the Republicans were expelled last May. They will be replaced by Free State forces.

Increase In Immigration

Ottawa.—Two per cent. increase in the number of immigrants coming to Canada during October as compared with the corresponding month of last year is shown by the reports of the Department of Immigration and Colonization. During October, 1922, a total of 6,320 immigrants were admitted as against 6,176 in October of last year.

Benzine Cargoes Burn

Sofia.—The French tanker City of Sparta from Batum to Marseilles with a cargo of benzine, caught fire and exploded in Bourgas harbor, killing two men and seriously injuring three. The surface of the entire harbor was aflame as the benzine escaped from the vessel's tanks.

The cargo was consigned to the Standard Oil Company.

Expect That Embargo Legislation Will Pass At Present Session

Scrap No More Warships

Great Britain Will Call Halt Until Other Nations Take Action

London.—Great Britain will scrap no more warships under the Washington limitation of arms treaty until the other nations have taken action and scrapped their quota, according to the assurance given in a question in the House of Commons by Eyles Messell, Financial Secretary to the Admiralty. Asked who had ratified the treaty, Commander Messell replied:

"The treaty of Washington has been ratified by the United States, Japan and this country, but not yet by France or Italy."

"Eight British capital ships rendered useless for war purposes," he added, "already have been sold to ship breaking firms for breaking up. Six more have been rendered incapable of war risks service and two more will have been similarly dealt with by the end of next month."

"So far as is known the United States and Japan have not disposed of ships, except possibly obsolete ships that have been disposed of in ordinary course."

Refugees Fleeing From Asia Minor

Several Thousand Waiting Transportation at Sea Coast Towns

Samsun, Asia Minor.—Although the Turkish Nationalist Government has declared that the Christians are not being expelled from Asia Minor, but are leaving of their own volition, the exodus of non-Muslims continues unabated.

Every road converging upon the Black Sea and Mediterranean ports is crowded beyond capacity with immigrants who are suffering from the extreme cold. Many are freezing to death in the deep snow. A wireless message from the interior, picked up here, says: "Several thousand refugees are moving on foot along the snow-covered roads from Merzivan and Tokat. They will perish if relief is not forthcoming. The United States hospitals in the interior have four times their usual number of patients. There are many cases of frozen feet."

It is estimated that there are 125,000 destitute refugees from the interior awaiting transportation at the various Black Sea and Mediterranean ports.

Died of Sleeping Sickness

Calgary.—John Francis Mason, aged 15 years, died here of sleeping sickness. This is the first case of this malady to appear here for several months.

London.—The Duke of Devonshire, Secretary of State for the Colonies, has announced that the Government will introduce a bill for the lifting of the Canadian cattle embargo if the present session of the House of Commons, and will do its utmost to pass it. It is hoped that the question will be finally, definitely and honorably settled before Parliament is prorogued.

The term of the proposed legislation to give effect to the resolution passed some months ago by the House of Commons and the House of Lords, calling for the removal of the embargo, were again taken up at a conference here recently in which Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Dr. J. H. Giesdale, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, and Hon. Duncan Marshall, Commissioner of Agriculture, represented Canada's interests.

Anglo-Greek Relations Broken

Lausanne.—Spokesmen for the British delegation have declared that the recall of British Minister Lindlow from Athens with his entire embassy staff constitutes a break in diplomatic relations.

The only British official left in the Greek capital is Mr. C. G. Duff, who, it is explained, remains as a member of the financial commission not as a diplomat.

RUPTURE KILLS 8,000 ANNUALLY

Eight thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificate being marked "rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the sign (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, applying whatever name you choose to call it? At least the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot give any more than a mere mechanical support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

Such advice has found a way, and all truss sufferers in the land are invited to take a test right in the privacy of their own homes. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD when adhered closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place, therefore cannot chafe or irritate. Soft as velvet—it is applied comparatively inexpensively. To be used without any other medicine. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name and ten cent coin or stamp, for PLAPAO CO., 182 Stuart Bldg., St. Louis, Mo., for full facts and instructive information. (—) P.L.

Here It Is---The Old Favorite

No Treatment for Coughs and Colds Was Ever So Satisfactory

All these years Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has held its place in the family medicine chest because there has been nothing to equal it.

It holds the confidence of all as the most certain relief from Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Asthma.

Saved from Pneumonia

Mr. W. O. Kidder, R.R. No. 1, Noyan, Que., writes: "I think Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is just wonderful for coughs and colds. Two bottles entirely freed my cough after I had tried every other cough medicine. I knew of, I feel sure it saved me from having pneumonia, and I cannot recommend it too highly."

Stubborn Cough

Mrs. Jeremiah M. Bigelow, Bigelow, Ont., writes: "I had a very stubborn cough for over four years, and I tried doctors and almost everything without result. One day an old friend asked me to try Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. I used five bottles, and it worked like magic. I have never been bothered since, and that is some years ago."

EVEN-HANDED JUSTICE

From the Old Country comes the news that Sir Almeric Fitzroy, Clerk to the Privy Council, has been fined 35 and costs for annoying women in Hyde Park. He has intimated an appeal, and it is possible that he has been convicted in error, but the point is that it shows how even the highest officials over in England are amenable to the law. He was arrested in Hyde Park by a couple of policemen, and brought before the Police Court in the ordinary way.

In Calgary, as at even in other places, it has happened occasionally that offenders are occasionally fined for assumed names, or the case being involved through influence, but the example set in the Old Land is one that could be followed more closely. Justice is not justice unless it is even-handed.

THERE ARE OTHERS!

When the Lethbridge Herald took occasion to refer to Picciariello as the "Master Run Runner," they should have recalled the fact, pretty well established, that the master run-runner is even yet an evader of justice and resides less than one hundred miles from the City of Lethbridge.

EFFICIENCY OF THE RADIO

The efficiency of the radio was fully established here on Saturday night last, when the operators received word of the verdict in the Picciariello-Lassandro murder trial exactly eight minutes before the news was received by any other means.

TOO MUCH GOVERNMENT

The logic of events is convincing observers that administration the public affairs of a country gives scope for all the ability governments are possessed of. Dealing with what has been said recently in Great Britain, the Kingston Standard remarks that is has quoted what Lloyd George and Bonar Law have said about too much government. Then it adds that further reports now say that Lord Derby, the new secretary for war, states, "Business men are crying out to be saved from government interference and left to their own initiative," and Sir A. Griffith-Boscawen, the new minister of health, declares, "We intend to remove all remaining controls and interferences with trade." The Standard's article concludes:

"Great Britain has had a costly experience of too much government and interference, as instanced in its railway and various business undertakings, which the government controlled, such as the sale of bacon. Why people expect a government to do everything is a mere puzzle. Governments are not made up of super-men, but are generally only ordinary individuals with no particular training which would fit them to do business better than those who have been trained in particular lines.

"Further than that, too much government lends too much interference with personal affairs, and this is an aspect which is dangerous. Business men found this out in Canada. The only apparent way of preventing it is for the public to see that it tends to Parliament men who want to interfere as little as possible with affairs which should be dealt with by the people themselves."

In South Dakota by a vote of two to one, a ban was placed on all Sunday amusements.

RED DEER TOWN HALL IS POPULAR MEETING PLACE

Below we quote just a few of the organizations at Red Deer which meet regularly in the town hall at Red Deer: City Council, Board of Trade, Red Deer Band, Poultry Association, Natural History Society, Horticultural Society, Memorial Committee, U.F.A., Livestock Shipping Assoc. at Agr., Agricultural Short Course Agricultural Society, I.O.D.E., St. Andrew's Society, Red Cross Society, Baseball Club, Football Club, Hockey Club, Curling Club, Ladies' Curling Club, Golf Club, and other similar organizations.

MUSINGS OF A COUNTRY MERCHANT

The following quotation portrays conditions in some localities. We trust this is not a local experience.

"Yes," remarked a country merchant, "I certainly have a snap. The wholesale houses send me duns every month and draw on me at sight, but if I send a bill to a farmer he comes swearing mad and quits trading at my store. While I am hard up for money, many of those who are owing me are sending money in advance to mail order houses. If I contribute money for any cause people say I am bidding for trade. If I don't they say I am a hog. Every day I am expected to dig up for everything that comes along, from a raffle ticket to a church fund, by people who claim I ought to do this, because they do part of their trading here; but our friends Robert Simpson and T. Eaton, neither buy tickets nor help the church fund and yet they get the cash in advance business. If I sell a pair of pants I must treat the family to candy and cigars, and if I buy a load of potatoes I must do the same. Customers who are able to pay, hang on to their money, while I pay ten per cent at the bank to get ready cash. I have a big business during hard times and poor crops, from the people who are willing to trade with me provided I can duplicate catalogue prices and wait until harvest for my money. My scales weigh too much when I sell sugar and weigh too little when I buy butter. I am a thief, a liar, and a grafter. If I smile, I am a cooey grafter, and if I don't I am a grump. Yes, certainly this is a snap." And he looks over $10,000 worth of accounts, all good, and wonders how he can raise $35 to pay a night draft due tomorrow.—Ex.

ADVERTISE ALBERTA COAL

The need of standardization for Alberta coal for outside markets, and the need of education of people in other provinces of the Dominion on the quality and value of Alberta coal, were emphasized at a conference held in Edmonton Board of Trade rooms the past week at which Premier Greenfield, President Freeze of the Calgary Board of Trade, H. Stutchbury, trade commissioner; A. W. Chard, freight supervisor of the provincial government and members of the Edmonton Board were present.

A dance will be held in the Blairmore opera house on Monday night next, under the auspices of the Blairmore band. The band will furnish music and a good time is expected.

At the instigation of the A. P. P. and town police, a local party was caused to appear before Magistrate Gresham on Wednesday afternoon, charged with a breach of the Liquor Act. The party pleaded guilty and paid a fine of $200 and costs.

Coleman's handsome new arena is just about completed and was opened for general skating last evening. The Pass has reason to be proud of two of the finest arenas in the province. We understand that the official opening of the Coleman Crystal Rink will take place on Friday night of next week, when an exhibition game of hockey will be staged between the Lethbridge "Vets" and Coleman.

(Signed) J. D. ROBERTSON,
Deputy Minister of Public Works.
Dated at Edmonton, this fourth day of December, A.D. 1922.

The bounds of authority prescribed for school boards is likely to be increased at the next session of the Legislature so that the administrative units might be larger than at present, and in a general way the districts in which these boards would function would more nearly correspond with those of the municipalities. A central school board would then have jurisdiction over perhaps a number of school districts within its bounds.

ATTENDANCE AT AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLS

Attendance at the four agricultural schools for the year 1922-23 term now totals 220. There are 146 pupils in attendance at Olds school, 20 in attendance at Claresholm, 53 at Raymond and 51 at Vermillion. Last year in six schools there was an attendance of 381, so that the department is educating almost as many pupils in four schools this term as in last term.

NO TRACE OF ENGINEER'S REMAINS

So far no trace of the remains of the late engineer William Macdonald, who lost his life in an effort to save the power house of the International Coal Co. at Coleman has been found.

HOW THEY TREATED BLAIRMORE'S APPEAL FOR HIGHER EDUCATIONAL HEAD TAX

Pinch Creek Council—Letter from The Town of Blairmore, asking co-operation of the town of Pinch Creek in endeavoring to have the School Poll Tax raised from $4 to $10 was discussed and laid over, the Council not being in favor of the raise.

Red Deer Council—Blairmore council asked co-operation in pressing on the Government an increase of the educational head tax from $4 to $10 per annum. The secretary thought such a matter should be taken up by the Union of Alberta Municipalities at their annual meeting, which was agreed upon.

A HOME FOR EVERYTHING

The editor of the Dominion Independent Oddfellows, official organ of the I.O.O.F., in a recent issue of that paper stated:

"I had the good fortune to hear Judge Emily Murphy, of Edmonton, (Clancy Murphy), speak at the 'Social Welfare' meeting held in Toronto. Her speech brought my thoughts surging back to the dreams I dreamed at first regarding the Association of the Irish Assemblies. God grant they were something more than dreams. 'Do you know' said the Judge, as she raised her forefinger with a gesture of menace and warning, in her earnestness her voice took on a stronger tone, and her trace of Irish brogue became more apparent. 'Do you know that on the night of the famine, and her voice grew more appealing, and then, 'Oh my! Oh dear! and start a 'Home Home.' The shame of it."

LONG STRUGGLE ENDS AND IRELAND GETS AUTONOMY

LONDON, Dec. 6.—The centuries old struggle between England and Ireland ended last night, when the legislation giving the sanction of law to the new settlement with Ireland passed its final stages in the house of lords which for generations has bitterly opposed any accommodation with Ireland.

The constitutional bill has gone through both houses of parliament without any amendment, and even without division being challenged. Lord Carson, who was the mainstay of the opposition, was mainly responsible for failure to settle Irish question in 1914, and who threatened his political career: has been the bitterest opponent of home rule, persisted to the very end in his role of "last ditcher."

SAMENESS

By Christopher G. Hazard

History is now revolving like a bus wheel, cutting down a good many gods, making for itself new gods. On the swiftly moving screen of this novel idea, great events, strange figures, pass in rapid succession. Among the multitudes that throng the present world standard are everywhere uplifted that contrived the wisdom and the morality of the past. A fat is shaken in the face of every authority. Each day witnesses the overthrow of a throne, the downfall of a government. There is the noise of an ice break up, there is the confusion of babel. A new religion is born every twenty-four hours and buried a few days after. All sorts of quicks parades in the professions. Everything is cleverly counterfeited. We are supposed to be entering upon a new world, wherein society will start all over again in things social, political, religious, commercial and artistic.

But we do not observe any changes in the natural world. The sun, moon and stars appear to be unware of our feverishness. The seasons come around as usual. Rivers flow and oceans surge as of old. Mountains illustrate steadfast faithfulness. The laws of physics and chemistry have not been revised, though they are better understood. Prosperity is still based upon knowledge and hard work. Crops continue to reward sensible labor.

We do not discover any change in human nature. It is more developed in the processes of time, but grows worse and the good grows better, but there are no new elements in the human constitution. People are still unwilling to learn from experience or any other teacher. They make the same old mistakes, prepare new wars upon old battlegrounds, slowly acquire common sense, when they get it at all. It is essentially the same old world, however much invention and science have increased its conveniences and comforts.

The ten commandments have not changed. They are as fixed as the mountains upon which God have given and as the natural law that holds that mountain in its place. As Lowell said, "The ten commandments will not budget." Time and its fluctuations have no effect upon them. It will always be right to do right. Honesty is forever honest. Purity is eternally pure. Respect for life for truth, for the rights of neighbors for the name of God, for true worship for holy times, for the authorities of life, are as fixed in the nature of things as our physical constitution are.

God has not changed. Progressively revealed to men and now set forth fully in Jesus Christ, He, from everlasting to everlasting, is God, manifested to up in the hearts of the world who is the same, yesterday and today, and forever.

So that there are no essential changes. In Christianity, in true religion, in repentance towards God and faith in our Lord Jesus Christ, there are no changes. All who are saved by the Spirit of God are the sons of God, proving it by their characters and works. The way of salvation is as it always has been.

It is rather foolish to think about sameness just now. We live of the monotony of change, of the settlement of endless questions, of the unending of endless readjustment. What is the use of so much debate and strife? Some things are forever settled. The principles of good and useful life, of temporal and eternal prosperity, are settled. True progress lies only in their development. Are we puzzled under new customs? Whyever expresses virtue and the serves praise is good to think about and practice. Things true, honest, just, pure, lovely, of good report, are worth having and doing. They always will be. They are the coin of the upper realm, the currency of heaven. Who lays up such treasures for himself is rich indeed. No moth of change can destroy the brightness of his record, no dust of earth's sorrows can dim the light of his character, no thief can rob him of his changeless and heavenly treasure. He will follow his heart to heaven.

One Kind

After asking the usual questions about the health of the family, the visiting priest, an Irish paper says, began to question one of the little girls about her work at school. Finally he got to geography. "Now tell me, dear, what is a lake?" he asked. The child knitted her brows, then said eagerly: "Please, your reverence, it's a kettle with a hole in it." Harford Times.

Scientists now declare that comets carry life-dwelling germs. They further state that it is possible for these germs to travel to earth from other worlds on the tails of comets.

Wintering Steers in Saskatchewan

One of the Attractive Sidelines for Any Farmer

The Superintendent of the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Saskatchewan, Mr. M. J. Tinslie, has recently prepared a pamphlet on "Wintering Steers for Market in Northern Saskatchewan." He starts by giving seven reasons why steer feeding should be made a business in that section of country. Briefly these reasons are: That that part of Canada is close to a main source of supply of good feeder steers; that winter employment would be provided for surplus labor; that it can be made profitable; that the operator knows his business; that finishing steers will increase the output of the farm; that it can be returned to the land that it will diversify the farm crops and make possible the introduction of suitable crop rotations; that it followed up by a large number of farmers the standing of farming will be raised; that finishing steers for market is one of the attractive sidelines that any farmer can introduce into grain farming in Northwestern Saskatchewan.

The author then proceeds to show by means of figures that half a dozen years' experience conducted at the station have produced a profit of $18.17 per steer for fat animals fed. The conclusion being that farmers would be well advised to finish their steers during the winter months rather than sacrifice them at low prices in the fall. A table follows showing that in five years the average spread of prices at the station between autumn and spring was $2.12 in steers purchased for the feeding experiments.

An experiment in shelters proved that expensive buildings for wintering need not be necessary, and that if steers are protected from the wind and snowstorms sufficient protection for economical gain is provided. Relative to feeds, crushed oats and barley make up the main part of the grain ration fed in Northwestern Saskatchewan. Standing greenfeed ground fine have given good results at the Scott Station when mixed with oat chop. Return values from oats fed to fatten steers are given in the pamphlet, which is numbered 17 and can be had free on application to the station or the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Details follow of experiments in fattening steers with sunflower slugs in addition to the feeding of oats. Steers have been found more and more firmly finished in this way than when fed straw and grain only, but the latter produced good gains, and an increase in both weight and price is needed to make the feeding profitable. Other experiments recorded those with yearlings versus two-year-old steers as feeders, and those relative to gains made by steers purchased from the former producer the most profitable.

The Vogue of the Bandit

Lack the Courage to Make an Honest Living

Autumn has become the season of the "bandit" in the papers. The faces of the clerks in a store and the "bold bandits" who blow the doors off bank vaults and infringe the copyrights of high finance.

There is a human side given to the stories of these crimes which fires the imagination and has the tendency to create a breed of imitators. As seen through the newspaper reporter the criminals take on almost heroic proportions. It is seen that the prisoners do or wearing the stripes of the penitentiary there is not a genuine of the herd in their make-up. When they appear as they really are—low-browed, ignorant and brutal men who "abhor" work and who are prepared to risk the loss of liberty rather than face an honest day's toil. The courage required to cow unarméd clerks is a negligible quantity as compared with the bravery needed to face the task of making an honest living. Toronto Telegram.

Vienna Wants Relics Restored

Priceless Exhibit Sent to France by the Emperor

In 1914 the municipality of Vienna sent to Lyons fair a priceless exhibit of relics of the Franco-Austrian period of Napoleon's time. They included many mementoes of the French emperor and of Marie Louise, and other articles of great historic interest.

The war came, and the collection is still in France. The Mayor of Vienna has petitioned the French Minister to restore it to the city. It is understood these articles are now in the hands of the French Minister of alien enemy properties.

Bird Fancier Tries

Strange Experiment

Man in Bremen Teaching Canaries to Sing Like Nightingales

After ten years of experiments, a Bremen bird fancier has succeeded in producing canaries with a nightingale warble. The cross-breed was attained by using nightingales as "singing masters" for young canaries, and the latter entirely removed from the sound of any other bird note, except the warbling of their "instructors."

The breeder's chief difficulty was at first found in the fact that usually nightingales sing only during two months of the year, and his purpose required a longer uninterrupted period of instruction for the canaries. He was finally successful in changing the mooding, or non-singing period of certain nightingales so that some sang from May to July, others from June to August, and still others from August to October.

Using these birds he sent newly-hatched canaries continually with hearing of their warbling. Several generations of breeding showed that birds reared from the original students instinctively possessed the nightingale warble, and that "instructors" could be dispensed with for the offspring except for "polishing off" their singing.

Judge Was Anxious

Shaved by Man He Had Sentenced to Life Imprisonment

"Real life situations are often too impossible for fiction." A New York judge paid a recent visit to Sing Sing. He had a dinner engagement and remained longer than he intended. He asked the warden if there was a barber shop near the station where he could be shaved while awaiting his train. The warden suggested the prison barber. He was very capable, he added. The jurist settled himself in the chair. A prisoner came in and began atroping the razor. He looked at the judge and they recognized each other instantly. The judge had sentenced the prisoner to life imprisonment. "I was never so anxious to get through a shave in my life," said the judge. "Is it any wonder I told him 'once over, please'?" New York Correspondent.

Going Into Unexplored Area of New Guinea

Two Young Australians Are Undertaking Dangerous Trip

A picnic race with fate. The missing link. Man-eating lizards.

Great white marble cities built long ago by a race of supermen. These are some of the wonders which two young Australians are going to seek in the wilds of New Guinea, the last great unexplored region on the earth's surface.

They are Louisa G. D. Connolly and Neal McNeal, who have gone together on expeditions ever since childhood. But none presented the dangers of their latest exploit.

In an interview Connolly told of their plans. "Few persons realize," he said, "that New Guinea is the largest island in the world outside Australia. And it is the one about which least is known."

The interior has never been explored. It is thought that there are mountains as high as any in the world. Savage tribes within close proximity of the coast have various stories handed down from father to son for many generations about the wonder of the island—the pigmies with tails, the savage giant lizards and the city built of marble.

But clearing up these points will only be the more romantic side of the expedition. There is a very practical side. Half the island belongs to the Dutch. The other half to Australia. The centre point, 500 miles from coast to coast, has never been touched. That is where we want to go.

"We proposed to map it, to study its plant and animal life, to learn as much as we can about the people, to locate gold and silver and precious stones, to find out the kinds of things that can be profitably grown, so as to add to the world's stores."

"Once we start away from the coast, we expect to be gone for two years and a half, keeping in touch with the outside world by a wireless outfit we will carry."

The dangers of the trip are not to be discounted. Many of these people are head hunters and eaters of "long pig" in other words, cannibals. There are forests in which huge pythons lurk, crocodiles, crocodiles and swamps in which crocodiles swim, and the malaria mosquito.

"We will go in our own ship to some point on the northern coast where we can establish our main base. There will be about eight men in this party. Then some time in the winter the main expedition in charge of McNeal and myself will set forth. We will have some of the native police force—about 150 of them—to protect us from our guard against savage tribes."

Fire Chief Could Not See What He Was Doing

It was a sleepy village, and its fire company was anything but up-to-date.

One night a fire was announced by the violent ringing of the alarm bell, and the sleepy firemen arrived at the scene of action to find the building on fire. The fire was so intense that no flames were visible from the outside.

The captain of the company made a careful survey and then calmly lit his pipe. "We'd better leave it alone and let it burn up a bit," he said, "then we'll be able to see what we are doing." Philadelphia Bulletin.

The E. P. Ranch

Alberta-Bred Scottish Shorthorn Command Top Prices at Sale

Alberta-Bred Scottish Shorthorn stock from the Prince of Wales ranch at High River commanded top prices at the recent Shorthorn sale at Edgemoor. One bull sold for $450, another for $375, and the average for eight animals offered was $494. Though he has owned and operated his ranch for three years, these constituted the first Shorthorn sale. In the early winter, Alberta-Bred Shorthorn sheep will be offered for sale from the E. P. ranch. Next spring the Prince, who keeps in close touch with affairs through his manager, is supplementing the ranch stock with more Shorthorn and Dartmoor ponies.

Profit In Poultry

Figures Show That Money Can Be Made from Poultry Properly Handled

Very interesting are the contents of the report for 1921 of the Poultry Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms. Experiments in nearly every direction relative to a profitable keeping of poultry are chronicled with particular attention to the cost of the various methods tried out. From figures compiled from monthly reports received by the Poultry Division, we learn among other things that the average number of hens per farm in British Columbia is 1053, in Quebec 50, in the Prairie Provinces 40.2, in the Maritime Provinces 39.4, in Ontario 35.7, and in the Dominion as a whole 54.1. The relative cost of hens last year is given as follows: Quebec, $2.91 per hundred pounds; Maritime Provinces, $3.17; Ontario, $3.00; Prairie Provinces, $2.45; and British Columbia, $2.83. The highest price during the year received for eggs was at Smithers, British Columbia, namely, $1.30 per dozen, and the lowest in the Prairie Provinces, where in some sections a minimum of 15 cents per dozen was reached. From further evidence supplied by farmers to the division, it is gathered that the average price received for eggs for the year was in Quebec 36 cents, in the Maritime Provinces 5 cents, in Ontario 52 cents, in the Prairie Provinces 45 cents, and in British Columbia 50 cents, the average for the entire Dominion being 53 cents. After pointing out that, based on these average prices, it would take only 43 dozen eggs to pay for the feed for one hen in a year, and that a very moderate yield would ensure a profit, the Dominion Poultry Husbandman is led to say, "With this direct evidence gathered from the farmers' own reports it seems that our country with confidence to the poultry flock as being surely one of the most profitable branches of farm work." Why Car Picks Up On Paved Road

Vegetation Gives Off Oxygen Increasing Speed of Motor

Motor cars of all kinds have long been known to gather speed in some unaccountable manner when passing over smooth paved roads. The cause has long been unexplained, but it is now held, both by automotive engineers and road engineers, to be due to the abnormal proportion of vegetation usually to be found along these "easy" roads.

Trees and plants exude oxygen. Motors run more smoothly when there is plenty of oxygen in the air, as motorists are well aware. The increased amount of oxygen diffused in the localities where the vegetation is profuse, coupled with the smoothness of the road surfaces and the consequent decrease in tractive resistance, constitutes the cause of the "picking up" of the motor and the increased speed.

Scientists recently conducted experiments in several localities, and along roads bordered by heavy vegetation, and these experiments demonstrated to their complete satisfaction that the behavior of the car was due to the increased amount of oxygen in the air.

Newspapers in Canada

Weekly Newspapers Have a Total Average Circulation of 1,924,223

A total of 1,067 newspapers were in operation in Canada in 1920, of which total Ontario accounted for 429, Saskatchewan 147, Alberta 96, Quebec 95, Manitoba 91, British Columbia 76, Nova Scotia 42, New Brunswick 24 and Prince Edward Island 7. The largest paper of publication is stated as English for 312 newspapers. French for 66 papers, German 5, and 21 newspapers representing 15 foreign languages. The average circulation per issue of dailies with morning editions was 50,592, of dailies with evening editions 129,503. Newspapers with a weekly edition had a total average circulation of 1,924,223 copies; those with a semi-weekly edition of 119,671; and those with a tri-weekly edition of 14,988.

THE PRINTER'S DREAM

Last evening I was talking
With a printer old and gray.
Who told me of a dream he had,
'Twas just the other day,
While standing in his office
The vision came to view,
Or he saw an angel enter
Dressed in garments white and new
And the angel "I'm from Heaven,
The Lord just sent me down
To bring you up to glory
And put on your golden crown
You've been a friend to everyone
And worked hard night and day,
You have supported many,
And from few received your pay,
And we want you up in glory
Where you desire to be,
To place your trusty hand in mine
And come along with me."
Then the angel and the printer
Started up to glory's gate,
But when passing close to hedges
The angel murmured "Wait!"
I have a place to show to you—
It's the hottest place in town—
Where the ones who never paid you
Do in torment always dwell."
And, behold, the printer saw them
Delinquent subscribers by the score,
And grabbing up a chair he ran
For he wished for nothing more,
But was bound to sit and watch them
As they'd sizzle, singe and burn,
And his eyes would rest on debtors
Whichever way they'd turn.
Said the angel, "Come on, printer,
There's the pearly gate to see,"
But the printer only murmured,
'This is Heaven enough for me."

CAUGHT THE IDEA, ALRIGHT

A little girl went to church with a neighbor and on her return home her father asked her if she liked the sermon.

"Yup," she replied.

"What was the text?" he asked.

"Don't be scared; you'll get the pulp," she promptly replied.

After much pondering over her answer the father called up the minister on the phone and asked what his text had been.

"Be not afraid, I will send you the Comforter," replied the minister.

"Would Wake Up Screaming"

"The Least Sudden Noise or Loud Talking Would Startle Him."

"Up to the age of eight, my boy was a strong healthy lad, full of life and energy. While playing leap frog one day with some boys of his own age, and while in a stooped position, a big boy jumped on his back and in falling my boy caught his foot in an iron grating and dislocated his hip. The pain was so great that he fainted and the other boys were so frightened they ran away. For hours he suffered terrible pain and when found, his hip thigh and leg swollen twice its size. The doctor set the bone but the pain and exposure were too much for the poor boy and he became unconscious. A high fever set in and for weeks he lay between life and death, reviving for hours at a stretch. One day he opened his eyes and murmured 'Mother,' but this is the only word he could utter; he was so weak, but I knew the worst was over. He got stronger but for months was in a nervous condition. The least sudden noise or loud talking would startle him and he would begin trembling. He was quite lame and the swelling still remained. The doctor gave him a tonic and told me to rub the leg with olive oil. This reduced the swelling and took away the lameness, but the nervousness remained. The poor child would wake in the night screaming at the top of his voice. The doctor gave him several different tonics but they were no use. I found a circular about Carnel and it seemed so different from other tonics I had heard of, that I thought I would get a bottle. Three bottles were all that was needed to make my boy like his own self again. It is hard to convince my friends that the change in him now is entirely due to Carnel. Of give him Carnel occasionally but I know that he will soon be as strong again as ever he was."

Carnel is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money.

DECEMBER ISSUE OF
RED CROSS JUNIOR

Arrayed in festive red and green with a branch of bright holly comes old Father Christmas on the front page of the December issue of the Red Cross Junior, bearing the Christmas greetings of the Red Cross to the thousands of Canadian boys and girls who are members of the Junior Red Cross. The magazine will appeal to the picture-loving child of today as it is beautifully illustrated. The Red Cross Junior deserves to be known and read in every home in the province as it ranks high as literature amongst modern publications for the young. It contains interesting stories of travel and adventure, thus giving glimpses of the great world which is so full of fascinate young folks. Juniors by this means, learn much of their fellows and pick up geography and nature study knowledge in the pleasantest possible manner.

Take for instance, the story of "The Wildwood Friends of the British Columbia Juniors." Here we read of a day in the life of Peggy and her friends of the woodland, the sea and the mountains. After reading it, who is there that does not feel invigorated? The tang of the sea, the breeze from the hillside, the wind in the woods, fill us with delight as we read of the lonely loon, the blue and white kingfisher, the poor little mink or the great killer-whale.

There is a fine sketch of the great scientist, Louis Pasteur, whose discoveries have done so much to prolong human life. Every Junior should read this and perhaps make use of it as a reading for the regular literary society meets. "Glimpses of New Brunswick" with pictures of the Indians, the ships, the logs on the river, and last but not least, the Red Cross Nursery at the Port of St. John provides good reading for the big folk as well as little, with many side lights on the history of the early French and Scottish settlers.

There are some remarkably fine illustrations of the new Parliament Buildings at Ottawa, taken from photos, the two best being the Library and the Hall of Fame.

Professor Dymond of the Royal Ontario Museum of Zoology, contributes an article on Reindeer, with an account of reindeer travel in Lapland of Capt. Watson of the Department of Agriculture. This interesting story shows pictures of the large reindeer herd at Toller, taken from a photo of the Canadian Arctic Exhibition.

There are some good Christmas verses, suitable for recitation, there is also the immortal story of "Tiny Tim," from Dickens, and there are jokes, new and old.

Parents and relatives of young folks who are on the outlook for a good gift for Christmas could find nothing better than a year's subscription to the Red Cross Junior.

A special arrangement has been made for their convenience at the provincial office. On the receipt of fifty cents your little friend will receive the magazine for one year mailed from headquarters each month. With the first issue an attractive Christmas card will be sent bearing greetings and showing by whom the gift was made. There can be no cheaper or better gift for a boy or girl than this, nor one which will give more pleasure.

Remittances should be sent to the Provincial Office, O'Sullivan Block, Calgary.

RELIEVED HIS MIND

A traveller, who believed himself to be the sole survivor of a shipwreck on a cannibal island hid for days in terror of his life. Dodging from pillar to post he ran into a clump of bushes from which a third wing of smoke was rising. His knees knocked together and he lost his breath. Just as he was gathering his remaining strength to flee a voice from the clump remarked: "Why the devil did you play that card?" The "sole" survivor dropped to his knees and devoutly cried "Thank God, they are Christians."

CONFERENCE OF
RETURNED MEN

The provincial command of the Great War Veterans' Association has called a conference of returned men, to be held in Calgary on December 19th and 20th, at which representatives from every district in the province will be present.

This is not a G. W. V. A. convention, but a conference of returned men, whether they be members of the G. W. V. A. or not.

The conference will deal with the problems affecting the Returned Men, and especially those affecting the disabled, the widows and dependents.

It is expected that about two hundred and fifty delegates will be present at this reunion.

Any returned man interested in the veteran problems will be made welcome and those desiring to attend should communicate with the Provincial Command, G. W. V. A., 298 Odd-fellow's Building, Calgary.

POST OFFICE OBJECTS TO SMALL CARDS

The public is urged, by postal authorities here, to discontinue, so far as possible, the use of small cards or envelopes. The following objections to the use of these is pointed out by the officials:

As a result of the small size of the cards or envelopes the post office cancellation mark frequently falls on the address, partially obliterating it, with the possibility that the article may be misdelivered or at least delayed.

There is difficulty in the post office sorting and handling of small cards or envelopes, and this unavoidably causes delay.

There is the difficulty in putting small cards or envelopes through stamp cancellation machines at larger offices, and this, too, causes delay.

The small size of the cards or envelopes makes them apt to fly out of bundles in which they are tied, and there is the possibility of loss as a result of this.

Responsibility for loss, misdelivery or delay, as outlined above, arising from the use of small cards or envelopes, rests entirely with the sender.

ANY SACRIFICE FOR GOLF

"It's grand weather for golf we're having, isn't it?" remarked Sandy to Jack. "I'll give ye a run on the links in th' mornin'!"

"In th' mornin', ye say!" replied Jack.

"Aye, in th' mornin'," replied Sandy. "Ah, well," said Jack. "I canna miss a game o' golf. I'll be there."

Then after a long pause he added: "But I had intended to get married in th' mornin'."—London Tit-Bits.

Rural Credit Systems Prove A Factor In Development Of Western Canada Agriculture

In the development in Canada of agriculture, which is the first and most important industry of the country, the pursuit has rapidly manifested itself as a business involving the application of business practices, and it has been found necessary to provide for those engaged in it such facilities for borrowing as will enable them to have their credit requirements satisfied according to their needs. Admissible as is the Canadian banking system conceded to be, farmers complain that it was not framed to meet their special and peculiar needs, and to meet these nearly all the Provincial Governments have devised systems and put into operation institutions for meeting requirements for rural credit.

If we are to judge by the manner these various systems have been taken advantage of and the promotion they have effected in Dominion agriculture, rural credit systems in Canada have been a success.

The following briefly describe the various systems adopted in the prairie provinces, with the amount of money loaned through them, and with some variations they will be found basically the same.

The Rural Credits Act of 1917 made provision for the organization of farmers of rural credit societies through which they may obtain short-term loans for productive purposes. Before commencing business the society must receive subscriptions to its capital stock from at least five persons actually engaged in farming. Any member desiring a loan makes application to the secretary, stating the purpose of the loan and submitting a statement of his assets and liabilities. If his application is approved, he is granted a line of credit for a year, and all the personal property he acquires through the proceeds of the loan is subject to a lien in favor of the society. The rate of interest payable by the borrower must not exceed 7 per cent. per annum. Until March, 1920, the banks furnished the loans at six per cent., but when they decided to raise the interest legislation was passed establishing the Provincial Savings Bank, which accepts deposits from all sources and pays 4 per cent. interest.

Long-term or mortgage credit is provided in Manitoba through an Act passed in the same year, which created the Farm Loans Association, to act as a lending agent between the Government and the farmers. The association is managed by a board of five members. The capital stock is $1,000,000 divided into $5 shares. Every borrower must subscribe and pay cash for shares to the extent of 10 per cent. of the amount of his loan and loans are secured by a first mortgage. Loans must not be for more than $10,000, must not exceed 50 per cent. of the value of the property mortgaged, and must be used solely for agricultural development. Since 1917 more than $7,000,000 has in this way been loaned to Manitoba farmers.

The province of Saskatchewan has no legislation for short-term credits, but an Act in 1917 provided for long-term credits, which is practically the same as the Manitoba Act. The chief differences are: (1) No maximum is stated for any individual loan. (2) All the money for the board's purposes is provided by the Provincial Treasurer. (3) First mortgages received by the board are handed over to the Provincial Treasurer as security for the loan. Up to a recent date the Saskatchewan board had completed $3,754 loans for a total amount of $3,407,456.

In the province of Alberta, under the Livestock Encouragement Act, five or more farmers may form an association and apply to the Government for a loan to be used in purchasing cows and heifers, and if desired, the joint purchase of a pure-bred bull, which must cost more than 10 per cent. of the loan. Each member may borrow up to $500, the money being borrowed on the joint and several notes of the members, guaranteed by the Government. Short-term credit is provided by the Co-operative Credit Act, which is very similar to the Rural Credit Act of Manitoba, the chief difference being that the rate of interest to be paid by the borrower is not a fixed rate but is decided by agreement between the society and the bank as lender. In 1917 the Alberta Farm Loan Act, for long-term credits, was passed, but has not been put into operation.

To Save Western Antelope

Herd on Government Reserve Near Foremost Is Increasing

Governments plans to prevent the extinction of the antelope in Western Canada are proving successful, and the reserve created at Foremost, Alta., in 1918, with 50 animals in captivity, has now increased to 130, representing an increase of 30 head for the past year.

The reserve, known as the Neuland Park, comprises nine square miles and the steady growth of the herd and the absence of disease is good evidence that the experiment is likely to result in saving this most interesting species from the extermination which otherwise inevitably awaits it.

Swifter than the greyhound in flight, exceedingly graceful and beautiful, the antelope has for many years been a prize for the big game hunter, and its numbers have been diminishing of late years. It is a raptidity that has aroused the concern of all lovers of wild life.

Ten years ago Dr. W. T. Hornaday, the distinguished American naturalist, estimated that there were 5,000 in Western Canada. Today there are reported to be only about 1,000 in a wild state in Alberta, and 250 in Saskatchewan, while they entirely disappeared from the province of Manitoba some years ago.

Says War Menace Becoming Greater

Lloyd George's Former Secretary Says Arbitration System Needed

"Because the world metaphorically speaking is getting smaller and questions between nations are thereby becoming more constant and impossible of being ignored, Philip H. Kerr, formerly secretary to Lloyd George in an address to McGill Canadian Club, affirmed that wars will become more frequent in the future. It means are not taken to provide the nations of the world with some method of adjusting differences by arbitration. He thought that, broadly speaking, the line of advancement was along the League of Nations idea which, while capable of great improvement, was a step forward. He said it is his view that, if there were 'another world war, every nation would be driven into it 'by trying to escape.'"

Increasing Range Of Vision

Birds Provided With Means of Seeing Clearly in Fog

The remarkable observation has been made that the eyes of birds contain drops of colored oil. For example, domestic fowls look out upon an orange colored world because of the droplets of orange-colored oil in the eye, which acts like an orange-colored lens. A careful study of this phenomenon by an investigator named Henning has revealed the fact, according to Huxley's University, that the object of this provision is to increase the range of vision, especially in foggy weather. As a matter of fact, our own vision can be singularly improved, too, in a fog, by the wearing of orange-colored glasses. If, for example, the human eye has a range of 300 yards in such weather, the donning of such spectacles increases the visible distance to 2,000 yards. Literary Digest.

The Cruellest Man

New York Motorist—Deliberately Crushed Timid Park Squirrel

The cruellest man in New York had his merry moment the other afternoon in Central Park. A timid little park squirrel had made several starts across the roadway. He was sitting up, viewing his chances when the cruellest man came along behind in a low-slung car. As he neared the squirrel he suddenly swerved the wheel and the squirrel was crushed to death. "I got him!" he heard him shout to an occupant in the back seat. Seldom does murder surge into the heart of the writer—but for once I saw the "red" that the realists describe so vividly.—New York Correspondent.

The Power Of Instinct

Interesting Discovery Has Been Made By Danish Scientist

As readers of the C.N. know, a Danish scientist, Dr. Johannes Schmidt, has for many years past been making a close study of the eel, and trying to solve the mystery of its life-history. In the Dana, a vessel fitted up as a scientific laboratory, he has been dredging in the Atlantic, and has made some extraordinarily interesting discoveries.

The most interesting being that two different kinds of eels breed near the Bermudas, one travelling west to America, and the other east to Europe. The only difference between these two kinds of eels is that one has fewer bones in its backbone than the other. Both species were often taken in the same net.

Why is it, then, that one kind invariably makes its way to European rivers, while the other kind goes to America? Why do not the American eels sometimes come to Europe, and the European sometimes go to America?

The answer is that they cannot, and if they tried to they would die. In the European eel the larval stage lasts for three years, whereas in the American it occupies only one year. It, therefore, an American eel tried to reach European rivers, it would find itself in mid-Atlantic when it emerged from the larval stage and needed fresh water. Being unable to get it the eel would perish.

Similarly if the European eel were to try to reach American waters, a journey, which takes only a year, it would arrive in fresh water two years before it was ready to leave the larval stage. It would be unfit for fresh water and would die.

So by that mysterious power of instinct, or heredity, or whatever it may be, the American and European eels, although born together, never take the wrong turning, but always turn east and west according to the species they belong to.

No Accommodation For Gigantic Bomber

British Air Ministry Postpones Construction of Big Airplane

The British Air Ministry are proposing to build a gigantic bombing aeroplane weighing more than twenty tons, which will be the most destructive air weapon in the world.

For some time past rough plans of this machine have been in existence, but up to the present no arrangements have been made for its construction, owing to the fact that aircraft firms have no sheds sufficiently large in which to construct the monster. It is probable, however, that this difficulty will be overcome in the near future by arranging for the machine to be built in one of the disused airship sheds.

The machine will be able to carry from six to eight tons of bombs, while it is expected that its 3,000 h.p. engines will drive it through the air at a speed of over 100 miles an hour.

Radio For the North

May Become Important Factor In Development of Northern Spaces

While the radio telephone as a sort of popular entertainment is already showing signs of waning, its use as a factor of advancing civilization is still receiving the attention of research workers everywhere. And it is in this direction that its benefits will be most felt, by making, for instance, much more readily accessible to hearing a concert four hundred miles away the experience adds little to life's amenities. But when no other means of communication exists between men in far-off places and the outside world, radio should become a true boon to those who use it.

In this sense it may become an important agent in the development of the northern spaces of Canada. It is in the north—as more and more men come to appreciate—that Canada's future lies. That great region now depends largely on improved means of communication for development. Once men say good-by to steel, and turn their faces towards the Arctic they enter into the unknown. This isolation that is so unavoidable a part of travel in the north retards development.

The radio, at a comparatively small cost, can keep those who go in there in touch with world events and the pulse of civilization. Early this year it was urged on the Government that it should establish a chain of stations along the waterways between Edmonton and Dawson. The Edmonton Journal, which made the suggestion, now announces that such a plan has been formulated. It says:

The Government contemplates the establishing of wireless equipment at Smith, Resolution, Simpson, Norman and McPherson, with a sixth station at Dawson. Mr. O. S. Pimble, the administrator of the North-West Territories, who has been in the north during the summer, has gone to Ottawa and it is known that he is urging strongly that an appropriation be made in the next estimate for this purpose. Officials in various branches of the Government work are in a position to understand how much their duties would be facilitated and the growth of the country stimulated by the introduction of wireless. They are supporting Mr. Pimble's recommendation with enthusiasm.

These representations ought to be heeded by those in authority. There are vast spaces in Northern Canada whose advancement would be accelerated by the introduction of such stations. The production of the North-West Territories, who has been in the north during the summer, has gone to Ottawa and it is known that he is urging strongly that an appropriation be made in the next estimate for this purpose. Officials in various branches of the Government work are in a position to understand how much their duties would be facilitated and the growth of the country stimulated by the introduction of wireless. They are supporting Mr. Pimble's recommendation with enthusiasm.

A Civilized Outpost

Argentine Town Has Fine Hospital, Stores and Modern Hotel

On the upper Parana River, which separates Paraguay from Argentina, is a town called Posadas. "This," says a traveler, "is the last outpost of civilization on the Alto Parana, face to face with primitive forest, wild Indians, the unexplored deserts of South America, and yet it is reached by a broad gauge railroad, has a fine modern hotel, three big department stores and the best hospital in Northern Argentina." Round about are great date plantations and old Jesuit ruins.

The Valuable Qualities Of Canadian Hard Wheat Now Known The World Over

In many directions it is difficult to drive home the fact that Canadian wheat possesses unique qualities which make it peculiarly desirable from many standpoints and create for it a demand from all sections of the globe. Critics of Canadian climate are slow to be convinced that it is largely this very element which is responsible for the high quality of the Canadian product and that for the same reason its standard is impossible of reproduction in other countries. The profound scepticism which clung to the fact that wheat could ever be commercially raised north of the international boundary is tardy of complete eradication. In general Canada's prestige seems to rest rather on the volume of her wheat production than on its quality. The public vision widespread agricultural lands, reads of an unexpected yield of 355,000 bushels of wheat, and of the Dominion's accession to second place among the wheat-producing countries of the globe, and is impressed to such an extent with the vast figures of output that facts of quality become largely enshrouded.

Recently a Canadian member resigned from the committee of the British Empire Exhibition in London, E.C., as a protest against other things against that body's obstinate conviction that Canada could not, from her own flour, make bread sufficiently palatable to serve at meals at the exhibition. At precisely the same time American millers were wailing at the newly enacted American tariff, because they knew it was imperative for them to continue their purchases of Canadian wheat to keep up the standard of American flour, and British millers, rather the best judges of wheat in the United Kingdom, were sending their protests across the Atlantic that American ships had been tampering with Canadian wheat passing through their hands and ruining American grain with it with the object of passing their product off as the Canadian wheat so desirable to British millers.

There is great significance in the fact that, in acreage production, Canada outstrips other countries, showing in grain production on the same extensive scale, and that the first returns of the western wheat crop returned over 70 per cent. as grading number one flour. There is a reason why the world's wheat champion ship as far back as 1893, went to a plot of land within the shadow of the Arctic Circle; why for ten years successively the world's first wheat honours went to various sections of Western Canada; why the world's competition in 1921 Canada secured twenty-two of the twenty-five prizes offered for wheat. Only the Canadian climate and Canadian soil working in conjunction could have produced a stronger wheater to capture the world's wheat championship five times and create a world's production record with eighty-two bushels to the acre.

Exhaustive scientific tests in both Canada and the United States have proven that Canadian grown seed has stronger powers of germination than that grown further south and is more desirable in many ways. American farmers discovered that for themselves and commenced importing Canadian grain and seed many years ago. The peculiarly hard qualities of the Canadian-grown wheat are appreciated in the milling industry, and each year large quantities of Canadian wheat are purchased by United States millers to mix with the native grain and raise the standard of their flour. Canada has taken American oats, barley and alfalfa, and has so improved them that her climate has vanquished American growers in competition and brought about an extensive importation of the seed. The wheat crop of Seager Wheeler sells for thirty dollars a bushel.

There can be no doubt but that Canadian wheat has materially benefited agriculture in many countries. In 1921 Canada lost the world's wheat championship after holding it ten years, but this triumph for the United States was only effected through the use of Canadian wheat. It was the Montana farmer, the new champion, had imported. Canadian wheat goes all over the world, but its benefit to agriculture is only incidentally disclosed on occasions when some story circulates back and the Dominion is made aware of what she is doing.

This thought is raised by a story which has recently come from France relating to Aristide Briand, seven times Premier of the French Republic. Probably a hobby he bought a farm in Normandy and brought his qualities of astuteness into question for the farm was notorious as the worst piece of land in the district. The Premier, however, tackled the question in a characteristically astute and aggressive manner, bringing science and expert knowledge to bear upon it. He had the soil analyzed and treated, and as a final measure imported wheat from Canada. This fall he added a further triumph to his successful career by carrying away the first wheat prize at the Normandy agricultural fair. It was an achievement for Canada, which probably typical of many other countries.

The Victory In Decay

Saving of Admiral Nelson's Flagship Is a National Duty

The appeal that is made to save from destruction Nelson's renowned flagship the Victory, now lying half rotten at Portsmouth, will go straight to the heart of English people. Even in times of political belligerence they will remember that Nelson died on board that ship with thanks to God on his lips that he had done his duty. Rarely has the call of duty been louder than it is today.

Nelson hoisted his flag on the Victory on May 18, 1803. Some of the most illustrious actions of his life were then behind him and also some of its darkest episodes but his weaknesses were human, and he had won the love of his countrymen. They had cheered him before. Now, he said, he had their hearts. Of the blockade of Toulon with inferior force—a most remarkable and arduous service—it is not the purpose to write here. What were his doubts and anxieties, what sleep and high discipline he gave to the fleet, how he saved to pursue the enemy the Antilles, how he followed them to the West Indies, what were his plans, and how finally he met and utterly defeated them on October 21, 1805, is in all the records and histories.

To save the Victory is therefore essential. She has remained in commission as a flagship at Portsmouth, and may still fly the flag. But half of her timbers are rotten. The advertisement for providing support in the dock, but the public must do the rest. There is no intention now of restoring the bow as it formerly was. This would be too costly. What is to be done is to bring back the ship as far as may be to her appearance in Nelson's days. The deck will be cleared and all restored, the masts and yards will be built and hung as they were, new timbers will replace what is rotten, the recessed stern will be rebuilt, and the ship will be repainted in the Trafalgar manner. For this work a sum of about $50,000 will be required. The Society for Naval Research has been authorized by the admiralty to raise a fund and make all plans for the restoration. —By John Leyland, Manchester Guardian.

Old Foods Are Best

Nothing Can Rival Productions of Thousands of Years Ago

Men have not discovered and cultivated within the last two thousand years the same food crops as our ancestors. The wheat, the rice, the maize, the potato, the breadfruit, the date, the millet, cereals, sorghum, the banana or soy. These date from three, four or five thousand years, perhaps even in some cases six thousand years ago.

The progress of the future, therefore, in its line, will be the introduction of food-yielding plants from foreign lands, and the education of the food-consuming public to the use of the new foods thus made available. —By John Leyland, Manchester Guardian.

Surplus Populations

In Haiti, where the people are partly of all black, there are now three births to one death. Americans have taught them sanitary methods and have prevented their murdering each other in revolution. The population is five times what it was when Haiti revolted against France. By and by it will overtake the white countries and problems. If the white man's science produces the same comparative birth rate in China, Africa and other countries, what will be the answer to the inevitable problem?—Detroit Times.

A Special Occasion

Tramp.—Lady, have you a piece of cake or some ice cream for a poor man who hasn't had a bite for two days?

Mrs. Housekeeper.—Cake and ice cream, indeed! I can't bread good enough for you?

Tramp.—Originally, yes, mum; but this is my birthday.—Boston Transcript.

It has been decided by the Department of the Interior to erect a monument and tablet on the site of the old blockhouse near Chateauguay, Quebec, one and one-half miles distance from the existing Chateauguay river, to commemorate the use of the site in the stirring days of the war of 1812-14. Though the blockhouse was not erected till after the battle of Chateauguay, in 1813 there is evidence that it was prepared for the same period of defence and was garrisoned in the fall of 1815 by a company under Captain Christie, the future historian, and was an important seat of disturbance in the Rebellion of 1838.

CURLING RINKS

The following is the result of the draw for risks arranged at a meeting of the Blairmore Curling Club on Tuesday afternoon. It will be noted that two risks are not yet completed, but the skips, Messrs. McDougall and Ferguson, hope to have their men in line in a few days.

The following skippers were named: G. N. Elwin, D. Lewis, R. K. Lillie, J. E. Gillis, R. Green, G. A. Viasac, A. McLeod, Rev. Father Connan, Rev. W. T. Young, J. Porter, M. Delecky.

HILLCREST TO HAVE
NEW GROCERY STORE

A new grocery store is to open in a few days at Hillcrest, in the old McLeod building, former premises of Burnett & Cruickshanks.

Joseph Brehier, of Blairmore, is to be the proprietor. Mr. Brehier was formerly in the employ of Burnett & Cruickshanks and has had considerable experience as a grocer.

LOCAL BUILDING CONTRACTOR
TO VISIT HOME IN ITALY

E. J. Fossi, our local building contractor and lumber dealer, leaves by tomorrow night's train for Ottawa, Montreal and New York, enroute to his old home in Italy. He expects to be away about four or five months and takes with him one of his sons, a lad of about nine years, of Canadian birth.

In Mr. Fossi's absence, his business interests will be looked after by Mr. A. Fabbro, his accountant.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Bamher, of Lethbridge, will leave shortly to spend the winter in California. Enroute they will likely spend a few days in Blairmore with Mrs. Bamher's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Purvis.

The death occurred at Lethbridge last week end of Archie McKinnon, brother of the Coleman O. P. R. agent, Alex. McKinnon.

The official opening of the Blairmore Arena for the 1922-23 season takes place on Tuesday evening next, when Blairmore and Bellevue teams will stage an exhibition game.

HOCKEY TEAM PRACTICES

The local hockey team took the ice for the first time this season during the week, and have had several good workouts. A great number of fans that have been witnessing the practices with interest and all are of the opinion that Blairmore can put a team on the ice as good as any in the league this year. If one can judge from the names which appear on the Crow League roster, the brand of hockey to be displayed in the league this winter will excel any in the province, if not Canada. Many of the players have been associated during the past two years with the best teams in the province and their names are not strange.

A new clause has been inserted in the amateur rules this year which allows the goal keeper to drop on his knees to stop the puck. This should tend to live up the game somewhat and make things more exciting all round. The resident clause for the Crow League expired December last, but Blairmore complied with the All Canada rules this year and had all players registered on the 15th of August.

Following is the roster of the Crow League teams for the season 1922-23, who are registered with Roscoe Powell, of Coleman, league secretary:

Blairmore—"M. A. Pruden, O. Reinak, T. L. Harvey, J. G. Schie, C. P. Reddick, Tony Veprava, E. C. Grey, A. J. Ennis, G. W. Bond, W. Turner, G. E. Ryan, E. E. Lavigne, Turner, W. W. Scott, A. McVey, G. N. Elwin, W. Wheatley, Bellevue—"A. J. Barbour, R. W. Mackay, D. Dewar, F. O'Grady, M. Galt, R. Towell, R. J. McFarland, C. Dewar, C. Thompson, B. Bathie, C. Miller, E. Fisher, G. Mattson, C. Clark, W. Cassens, B. Pruden, G. Johnson, B. Lockwood.

Coleman—"Ernest Johnson, Gordon Phillips, Harvey-Bailey, Hugh Nelson, Norman Wilde, H. Perry, Foster Easton, Charles Graham, Wm. Gate, J. W. Burden, Eldred Jewell, Harry Holmes, Joseph Purvis, James Evans, G. A. Hume, Samuel Hadfield, H. Neil, A. Griesack, W. Hoggan, Joe, Perko, John Perko, G. Gerosu, W. Beaton, J. Singer.

Puncher Creek—"H. LaGrandia, H. Taggart, A. Littlewood, J. P. Al-cander, G. Duthie, H. Marquis, G. Duthie, H. Charrie, N. J. McFarland, Cooper, G. Pelletier, J. F. Kemp, G. Dobbie, A. S. Crerar, Ed. Van Camp, R. C. Simpson.

Lethbridge—"V. Podger, W. Clinie, Fred Henderson, E. Anderson, J. H. McPherson, J. W. Men, W. H. Mummund, J. H. McDonald, A. N. Smith, C. Pruder.

Taber—"James Scott, Clarence L. Chapman, C. Kendall, R. E. S. Carter, A. Sturgeon, Gus Pelletier, P. T. Malo, W. M. Haskins, G. Elliott, R. D. Aston, C. Hodges, C. A. Drennan, J. E. Douglas, J. Connolly, J. Malo, W. H. Cook, W. Wetterburg, H. Storie.

Players marked (*) were with team last year.

SPORT NOTES

The Toronto St. Patricks, world's professional hockey champions, are touring the west and have played several games. At Winnipeg they beat Edmonton Eskimos 2-1, at Victoria they were defeated by a score of 7-3, and the Vancouver team held them to a tie score of three all. The champions will also play the Calgary Tigers.

Edmonton Eskimos, rugby champions of western Canada, were beaten by the Queens at Kingston on Saturday last in the Dominion finals. The score was 15 to 1.

Hugh Nelson, who played with Coleman last winter, was in Calgary recently to try out as a professional for the Calgary Tigers, but decided to remain at the almost-pure group for at least another season. He will play again this season at Coleman.

Lethbridge Herald suggests that the Crow teams should each have a monicker. They go by the name of Yehs, but we would suggest that they change it to the Weas (curse).

A good name for the local team would be the Boomerangs. (They always come back?)

Coleman might call their team the Coyotes as the fans there have a tendency to howl.

Taber has a guy signed on by the name of Kendall, who is reputed to be of Big Four fame. Hope he's not any relation to the Kendall of the Mounted Police. Guess not, or he would be at Lethbridge (T).

The president of the Alberta Amateur Hockey Association has appointed Mr. L. L. Morgan, of Blairmore, a member of the Alberta Branch Championship Committee, in place of J. J. Jackson, of Lethbridge, who wished to be relieved from service on the committee.

According to a recent court decision one may now smoke in Zion City, Illinois, in spite of the edict to the contrary by overseas Volva. But who wants to go to Zion City anyhow.

LUCKY HE GOT TANLAC SAYS T. B. DRAPER

"Talking about things that help people, this Tanlac has done me more good than anything else I have ever come across. There's no doubt in my mind but what it's the finest medicine money can buy," is the emphatic statement made recently by Thomas B. Draper, 224 Second Ave., West, Calgary, Alberta. Mr. Draper is an old Imperial Army man. He saw many years service in India and Egypt, and also served in the Indian campaign of 1852.

"For a year past I have felt run down all over. My appetite deserted me and the little I did eat seemed to do me no good. I felt so listless and worn out it was an effort for me to get up from my chair. I couldn't sleep to any good and not up mornings just as tired as when I went to bed at night. I lost weight continually and had commenced to worry over my condition.

"It was certainly lucky for me that I listened to my friends and got Tanlac, for I have gained several pounds in weight and have not felt so well in a long time. What it takes to make a man eat good, sleep good and feel like working Tanlac certainly has it." Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

My hat had vanished my hairpins also, and my hair hung in a braid over my shoulder. Cupid stood a few feet away with an apologetic expression on his face that surely meant, "I know it was all my fault. I'm sorry, like Mr. Mills, is always a perfect gentleman. And Mr. Livingstone glared at us alternately. It was funny, and I began to laugh.

"I am glad that you find me amusing," said Mr. Livingstone stiffly. "And then I began to cry! Surely the strain of the last few months has weakened my brain."

In a moment Mr. Livingstone was beside me. "Elinor," he said gently, "are you, or are you not, engaged to that man in England?"

"I am not!" I replied indignantly between sobs. "And even if I were, I don't see what right you have to ask personal questions."

"You don't, eh?"—this with a queer little laugh—"and you'll be about that later. And in the meantime, if you have to cry you must do it more comfortably."

And now, after encouraging me so shamelessly, he says that I spoiled his second-best tie by sprinkling salt water all over it! Of course he has said other things too—a great many of them; but while eminently satisfactory to me, his conversation is not suitable for insertion in a well-conducted diary.

We had to tell our wonderful news to the Bingham's, but until we hear from Father we shall not tell anyone else. Don and I were alone for a while, and Mr. Bingham did also—awfully good of him, I thought it. We have decided that I will leave about the first of May, and Don will come for me at Christmas. Inside my ring is engraved, "Elinor, June 20th,

18— "Pacing Don's remembering the exact date!"

I am just a little bit worried about Mary. Don has made it very plain that he flirted with her only because he felt that I had used him badly by concealing my engagement to another man. But did Mary flirt with him just for mischief, or did she care for him seriously? I wish I knew.

April 26th, 19—
Father has cabled his consent.

The End

XXVIII.

Bar B Ranch,
May 3rd, 19—

The end of my diary begins to resemble Sarah Bernhardt's farewell tour. But as I never add a postscript to a letter, perhaps I may be allowed to add one to my diary.

Properly speaking, Mary is responsible for this additional entry. After I received Father's cable, I wrote to her and announced my engagement. Her reply came today, and as I could not do justice to it in an extract I shall paste it in my diary here! It forms a more fitting conclusion than anything I myself could write.

"Winnipeg,
April 27th, 19—

"Dearest Elinor,—
"When I had read your letter containing the marvelous news of your engagement I felt so happy that I wanted to hug someone, you or Uncle Don in preference. But there was no suitable victim within range, so I abducted the nearest small boy and took him to see the 'movies.' This small boy is perfectly adorable; he has long, coloured curly hair, a turned-up nose, and an entrancing lisp. We had 'one swell time'—that very vulgar expression is a quotation from the small boy's vote of thanks. I have cut out along.

Honestly, Elinor, I cannot tell you how glad I am that you and Uncle Don have at last acted in a sensible manner. As soon as I saw you together at the ranch I concluded that he was well, not wholly indifferent to you. But you know, my dear, your predilection for Platonic friendship and poultry farming would discourage the boldest of men, so I thought that it was time for little Mary to take a hand in the game. Is that plain, or merely technical phraseology?"

First of all, I tried flirting with Uncle Don, but that did not seem to trouble you in the least. It was very discouraging, and I was almost despondent when I saw you together. I thought if I could make Uncle Don flirt with me it might bring you to my side. I called on you, and Uncle Don's jaw when he didn't exactly please?"

"Gee, I was scared! But I stood up to my ears and began to beguile to conceal his injured pride by devoting himself to me. I felt satisfied that I could do it. I certainly did sit up and take notice, but—this for your consolation—Uncle Don thought I was a little bit of a flirt, and you were homebaked! Men are stupid creatures, even the best of them.

However, towards the end of my visit I had many an anxious moment; and I vowed then that I would never again interfere in such a matter. Two or three times since I came home I have been on the point of writing to Uncle Don to tell him what I had done, but I couldn't 'very well tell him that you were breaking your heart because he would not marry you, and you more, could I? The next time I shall leave the matrimonial game to Cupid—I do! Cupid, except I thought he is as a substitute for his more renowned namesake.

But I am reading this over your shoulder, please send him away now—I have something to tell you that is for you and him alone. I will probably faint; but you cannot be half as much surprised as I am myself.

"Since 8.45 p.m. on February 3rd I have been engaged to you, to the Reverend Bernard Hartford! Don't laugh, please; it is not funny. I don't suppose you will credit my statement. Of course I am not really engaged then—just on probation, so to speak. But we wrote to each other twice a week, and you never suspected anything! That shows how much you were taken up with your own affairs."

"Elinor, I am reforming; you would soon know me. I am very sweet and submissive, and I say 'yes' sir' and 'no, sir' to Mr. Hartford whenever he speaks to me. And every time I use those words I feel that I am making a sacrifice, here's hoping the heathen appreciate my self-sacrifice. It is not for the sake of the heathen that I make the sacrifice, however. I have the bishop in my mind's eye."

"Queer, ain't it? That Mr. Hartford never got married; and him such a fine-looking man! I think seriously of asking Mrs. Mills to be my mistress of honour."

"Yours for ever and ever,
And then some,
"Mary Arnold."

"Trouble?" asked a pedestrian.

"None," was the laconic answer.

Kemal's Responsibility

Men Acting Under His Direct Orders Says British Officer

It has been said that Kemal Pasha himself is not responsible for the conduct of many of his followers, who are beyond his control, but this is not the picture drawn by a British naval officer at the Dardanelles in a letter to a friend at Orillia, Ont., published in the Packet. He writes:

"The last English papers we received about a week ago, said that the Turks that had invaded neutral territory were out of touch with Kemal. How very different is the true state of affairs. We had certain information (by tapping the Turks' lines of communication) that the Turkish cavalry in Erewhon were in direct telephonic communication with Kemal at Smyrna and were acting under his direct orders."

"This fact must have been known to the French when they were back-biting Kemal against the British. Happily they are now recovering a sense of their duty to Europe and humanity, and while it is too late to save Constantinople and Eastern Thrace from the Nationalists they can prevent a massacre of Christians in these areas by co-operation with the British. But for the British there would have been a massacre already.—Toronto Globe.

SUFFERED SO FROM HEART AND NERVES LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Mr. A. H. Lee, Beamsville, Ont., writes:—"I am delighted to let you know what I have to say regarding the good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills."

A short time ago I suffered with heart and nerve trouble, and was so bad I could not sleep, only about two hours each night. My heart was so bad I had spells when driving on the road and would faint away, and neighbors would carry me in from my wagon. I also took these pills in the night and during my daily work the farm seemed to be a burden. I would jump out of bed, and was then compelled to walk the floor before I could get to bed. After taking a few boxes of

HEART AND NERVE PILLS

I can honestly say I am a relieved man. I now feel in the best of health, and the best I've been in for three years, and can do any kind of work with pleasure where before life was a burden to me."

Pride of the Empire

Prince of Wales Has Developed Human Side of Character

Mr. Lloyd George, in a felicitous speech, uttered no conventional phrase, but the veritable truth when he said that the Empire owes the Prince of Wales a debt which it can never repay. It is not only that he has tact and kindness. He has grappled earnestly with his duties and to today perhaps the most travelled man in the Empire. But with this serious side to his character he has known how to retain and develop the human part and the love of sport and adventure which will ever appeal to Englishmen. And that is why the whole nation today follows his career with such affection and hope.—London Daily Mail.

SWEDISH INVENTOR HAS NEW OIL LIGHT

Claims Whiter and Much Cheaper Light Than Electric Or Gas. Edison enabled us to enjoy the benefits of electric light, Count Welsbach's mantle made it possible to have the incandescent gas light, but it remained for a Swedish engineer named Johnson, now living in Winnipeg, to devise a lamp that would burn ordinary, everyday kerosene oil and produce a light said by the many scientists who have seen it to be whiter than electric. The lamp is as simple to operate as the old style oil lamp, burns without odor, smoke or noise, and is proving a sensation where oil light is needed.

Mr. Johnson offers to send a lamp on ten days' free trial and will even give one to the first user in each locality who will help introduce it. A letter addressed to T. R. Johnson, 578 McDermott Ave., Winnipeg, will bring full particulars about this wonderful new lamp. He has an interesting agency offer, too.

Channel Tunnel Was Frenchman's Idea

Engineer Wanted to Construct Paved Submarine Road 120 Years Ago

When all other topics of talk fail in England or France there is always the project of the Channel tunnel to fall back upon, after more than a hundred years. It was not, by the way, some Englishman who first proposed the "great bore," so that he could get to Paris without suffering seasickness. The original idea was given by a French engineer, M. Mathieu, who 120 years ago wanted to construct under the Channel a paved submarine road that was to be lighted with oil lamps. This pioneer was a man of courage. But how he would be astonished if he knew that his grand-nephews despite electricity, steam and other devices that would make his project simple as a child's play, are still merely planning the tunnel.

THE FALL WEATHER HARD ON LITTLE ONES

Canadian fall weather is extremely hard on little ones. One day is warm and bright, and the next wet and cold. These sudden changes bring on colds, cramps and colic, and unless baby's little stomach is kept right, the result may be serious. There is nothing to equal Baby's Own Tablets in keeping the little ones well. They sweeten the stomach, regulate the bowels, break up colds and make baby thrive. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Dairying—Everybody's Business

Milk and Its Products As the Best of All Foods

Miss Helen C. Campbell, of the Dominion Dairy and Cold Storage Branch, never made a true statement than that contained in a recent address, "To train a child in good food habits is one of the fundamentals in making him a success in life." The subject of her address was "Dairying—Everybody's Business." She went on to describe how the cow became a mammary of the most wholesome and best body-building food for human consumption. Reading a verbatim report of the address, it is impossible to avoid the thought that everybody in the land, and especially women, would have profited by hearing and digesting the many truths she gave voice to. She described how dairy products fed and fostered the body and that led to mental health. She quoted scientists of different nationalities to substantiate her statements. Metchnikoff, for instance, to prove that dairy products promote longevity, and Dr. McCollum, that they are a large element in the making and preservation of good teeth, and that the first and most important principle of nutrition is extension of the use of dairy products.

Speaking directly of the business relationship to her countrymen, Miss Campbell showed how all classes were concerned; how all were kept fit for their work, and oftentimes for the accomplishment of big things, by the free consumption of milk and its products. In fact, the speaker ventured to say, that sometimes she was led to think that business men, in their downtown lunch at least, were more faithful followers of the doctrine "drink milk" than any other class of people. Concluding, she said tribute to those schools wherein milk is distributed to underweight children, and to the Home and School Clubs of the border cities, which she said are in the forefront in all worthwhile work of this kind.

Manitoba Dairy Exports

Remarkable Development of Industry Is Noted in Recent Years

From being a province importing dairy products prior to the war, Manitoba is now one of the largest exporting provinces in the Dominion, and out of 51,000 farmers there are 26,000 producing and shipping milk and cream. J. H. Evans, Deputy Minister, announces. In 1914 imports of butter into Manitoba amounted to about 70 carloads, and at present there are being exported nearly 100 carloads. In the opinion of Mr. Evans, it is one of the most remarkable developments of a new industry on record.

Has Made a Start

Everywoman's Fund For Treatment of Tubercular Women Will Now

Within the week the Everywoman's Fund for free treatment for 50 tubercular women has got a real start. The first $3 of the $50,000.00 is now in the bank. The donations were: Mrs. E. Simms, Canby, $2.00. Mrs. F. H. O. Harrison, Penne, $1.00. The Major Livingstone Chapter, I.O.D.E., at Yorkton, donated $2.00 for nightgown material for sanatorium patients, and is holding a dance for the tubercular children.

The Claret Homemakers' Club sent a box of poultry for the benefit of the patients at the sanatorium. Clubs that have this week promised to work for the $50,000.00 fund include: Regina Homemakers' Club, University Women's Club, American Women's Club, 14th Avenue W.M.S., Knox Ladies' Aid, all of Regina; while the Swift Current and Moose Jaw Local Councils of Women are also becoming active for the sake of the 50 tubercular mothers.

Each Lion Cost Public $42,000

In many parts of African continent lions have long been extinct. Already we see signs of this condition in many other parts. In 1884, when I visited Algeria, the killing of lions was still not uncommon, and I recall hearing the British consul in Bona tell of a lion he had seen asleep in the middle of a dusty road. As the consul was armed only with a revolver, he saw fit to retreat, since the lion showed no disposition to retire from his daytime couch. Until then, lions had been a positive nuisance in the surrounding country; indeed, according to the picturesque account of Jules Gerard, each lion during its life of 35 years had slaughtered cattle and levied other tolls to the amount of $42,000.—A. G. Dugmore, in Everybody's.
